S. A. D. 44 BOARD HOLDS REGULAR MEETING AT CRESCENT PARK SCHOOL

The S. A. D. 44 board of directors held a regular meeting at the Crescent Park School on Monday evening of this week. The session was transferred there because of heating difficulties at Telstar Regional High School.

Basil E. Kinney, superintendent of schools, informed the board of repairs that have had to be made on the "Bobcat" vehicle used to move snow at Telstar and other grounds maintenance work in the district. The board approved expenditure of funds to cover the cost of the drive system in the seven-year-old vehicle.

Mr. Kinney reported to the directors on the problems with the boilers at Telstar. He said that the problems were incurred in part by corrosion caused by the high sulphur content of the fuel used, causing leaks. One boiler was thus disabled. The —30° temperatures of Sunday night and Monday morning were too much for the remaining boiler, and some pipes in the heating system of the school froze and burst, causing water to leave the system.

When that occurred the remaining unit automatically shut down, leaving the building without heat until repairs could be made. By early Monday evening one boiler was back in operation. He said no dollar estimate was possible of the total damage. In fact, until the boilers were back in full operation total damage could not be ascertained.

Mr. Kinney also reported that an engine had to be replaced in one of the district buses. Richard Blake, in charge of transportation, stated that some compensation might be forthcoming from a supplier to cover some of the expense of the engine replacement.

The board approved the expenditure of funds from the current budget to cover the cost of the boiler and related repairs and the bus engine replacement.

The directors authorized a postponement of any "make-up" days that might be necessary until a later date, preferably in the spring when climatic conditions moderate.

The board voted to invite the selectmen of member-towns of the district, and the selectmen and school committee members of the towns of Gilead and Upton to the Feb. 2 board meeting for a discussion of the then-current outlook for state funding.

The employment of Beverly Swan as assistant cook at the Andover Elementary School was confirmed by the board. A vacancy in the lunch program at Andover was created by the recent resignation of Ethelene Merrill.

An arrangement negotiated by board member Michael O'Donnell on behalf of the district with abutting land-owners of the right-of-way to the Woodstock Elementary School, was approved by the directors, subject to confirmation by continued on Page Eight

MT. ABRAM INSTRUCTORS ATTEND CLINIC/EVALUATION AT LOST VALLEY

Mt. Abram Ski School instructors Rusty Strout and Al Wescott recently completed a two-consecutive-day Professional Ski Instructors of America (PSIA) clinic and evaluation held at Lost Valley, Auburn.

Instructors from Maine's major ski resorts were enrolled, as well as ski school members from such New Hampshire areas as Cannon and Loon Mountain, Waterville Valley and Pat's Peak. PSIA examiners from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont conducted the course.

Free-skiing, teaching, final-form demonstrations and slalom-running abilities were evaluated, with 20 points total score awarded for proficiency in the four areas. While 12 accumulative points allow an instructor a passing grade, Strout and Wescott each netted 19 of the possible 20 points.

The first day's skiing was devoted to refining ski discipline techniques, while the second day involved teaching methods and the evaluation.

Successful completion of the evaluation enables an instructor to become a Registered member of PSIA. After Registration, an instructor's final step is to become Certified, a rating for which he must complete successfully an intensive, six-day instruction and examination session.

Although the vast majority of the country's ski instructors are neither Registered nor Certified, most resorts' ski schools are directed by Certified instructors. PSIA's Registration and Certification programs are aimed at standardizing ski instruction throughout the nation.

Mt. Abram Ski School Director Blaine Mills, a Certified instructor of ten years' standing, recently attended a similar two-day clinic at Saddleback Mountain, Rangeley. Certified instructors must attend these clinics every two years in order to keep abreast of current instructional techniques and methods.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY RECEIVES BOOK ON MAINE FAMILIES

On Friday, Jan. 16, 1976, Stephen T. Seames of Locke Mills, grandson of Mrs. Myrtle Bacon of Locke Mills and the late Earle L. Bacon, presented a book entitled "Maine Families — Bacon, Holmes, Paine, Brooks and others" to Stanley Howe, Curator of the Dr. Moses Mason House for the Bethel Historical Society. The book was donated on behalf of the author, Harold Bacon Perham of West Paris, Maine and Providence, R. I. This book contains much information on local history as well as considerable genealogical data on the families included. Stephen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Seames of Locke Mills and is currently a student at the University of Maine at Machias.

CORRECTION — Last week "The Citizen" stated that Harold Bean was Bethel Town Manager from 1959 to 1962. That was incorrect. Mr. Bean served from April of 1957 to April, 1962.

NO SCHOOL AT TELSTAR MONDAY OR TUESDAY — BOILER PROBLEMS

There was no school for students at Telstar Regional High School on Monday and Tuesday of this week as there were problems with the heating system. Although not directly involved with the problem, sixth graders at the R. C. Foster School in Newry, because of transportation scheduling, also had the two days off.

It was discovered early Sunday evening that one of Telstar's two boilers was leaking water into the firebox. With only one boiler operating and one of the coldest nights of the winter, a pipe in the cafeteria froze and burst, draining the water from the functioning unit. With the water level lowered the second boiler shut off automatically.

The second boiler was returned to duty late Monday afternoon, providing some heat to the building. As the heat came on more leaks were discovered due to frozen pipes. As these were repaired and the problems with the first boiler were remedied, both of the heating units were functioning during the day Tuesday.

Students were back in school attending classes on Wednesday.

report on the bills received in the Veterans Affairs Committee, and their actions, indicate an anti-veteran sentiment in the State.
This is also true in National. Mr.
Theriault is chairman of this Com-

should alert the veterans to check on the candidates running for office in the future.

B. Paragraph two of M. S. A. D.
#44 Blue Book (Basil Kennedy's
Sept. 2, 1975, Memo to the School Board), page 17, paragraph three, now reads: "The procedures, including rules, by which order is maintained in a school are referred to as discipline. In M. S. A. D.
#44 the procedure to be used is that the pupil is to be guided in the development of self-control and of a sense of responsibility to the other pupils and the school.
Coercion, employment of penalties,
reprimands, detention, withdrawal of privileges, corporal punishment,
and expulsion are to be considered extremes reportable, immediately to the next in the chain of authority within the school system
for review to determine when,
where, and how self-control and persuasion failed. (Knowing, as in society generally, teachers and principals alike must resort to force when self-control and persuasion fail.)"

It is the opinion of the committee that the paragraph should read: "The procedures, including rules, by which order is maintained in a school are referred to as discipline. In M. S. A. D. #44 the procedure to be used is that the pupil is to be guided in the development of self-control and of a sense of responsibility to the other pupils and the school. When necessary—coercion, employment of penalties, reprimands, detention, and withdrawal of privileges are normal means of discipline to be used with discretion. Corporal punishment, suspension, and expulsion are extremes reportable immediately to the next in chain of authority within the school system for review to determine when,
where, and how self-control and
persuasion failed."

1. Since we no longer have department heads, the Assistant Principal should be considered next in the chain of authority in matters of discipline referrals, so that situations can be handled fairly and expeditiously.

2. The administration at Telstar should establish a procedure to be used when the Assistant Principal is not available.

C. At Telstar, as anywhere, it would be impossible to list all privileges, but the committee has stated a few possibilities which we feel will explain our position.

1. Extra-curricular activities
2. Student lounge
3. Smoking area
4. Free movement during non-class time. Some possible methods to control movement might be:
a. Assign the student to a classroom where the teacher is willing.
(Maximum of four students to a class.)
b. Assign the student to a specific teacher during floating time block.

c. A proctored study hall.
D. The committee is in basic agreement with the student handbook except for the section on drugs, which we understand is now in the policy committee for revision. We do, however, feel we should recommend some guidelines:

a. Freedom does not mean per-missiveness.
b. Self-discipline can only be taught through corrective guidance for those who display a lack of self-control.
c. Although the handbook is quite general, it should be followed by students and school officials

where specific and where not specific should be interpreted with common sense, to insure order in the school and fairness to all.

III. We are proposing the following changes and/or additions to the program at Telstar with the feeling that total student involvement in the school community will eliminate most of the student discipline problems.

1. A certain sum of money be set aside. Part of this amount be used to hire additional personnel who would handle study halls, so teachers would be free to offer more courses and go back to a more varied type of program.

2. A certain sum of that amount be set aside to present assemblies in the school of the first calibre.

3. The Board set aside an amount, whatever it would take, to hire an individual as a public relation person, someone to promote
M. S. A. D. #44.

4. Make more use of floating block by actively involving the students, such as through, clubs,
contests and tournaments.

IV. Summary
Although we have recommended
specific changes in the District
Philosophy and program at Tel-star, we do not feel that the major problems are with the written text of the Philosophy and Program, but with the interpretation and application of that Philosophy.

We feel that everyone in the District, Administrators, Teachers,
Students and Citizens, have a responsibility to the well-being of the students. The Administrators, Teachers and Students have the responsibility to use common sense and reason when interpreting and following the philosophy and rules of the District. The citizens have the responsibility to obtain the facts from the proper officials of the school administration and board, when situations arise and not spread rumors. Rumors can only injure those involved.

We feel the Superintendent should present a report to the School Board on how the students are being prepared at the elementary level to assume a role of self-discipline at the secondary level.

The committee believes in this report and hopes that it is accepted and implemented by all involved.

Respectfully, Christen J. Ange-
vine, Chairman.

SPECIAL S. A. D. 44 BOARD
SESSION TO DISCUSS REPORT
OF "OCT. 14 COMMITTEE"

The S. A. D. 44 board of directors will hold a special meeting next Monday evening, Jan. 26, to discuss the Report of the Special Committee to Review discipline,
Curriculum and Philosophy at Tel-star. The committee was authorized by the board on Oct. 14, and submitted its report on Dec. 1.
The directors accepted the report on Dec. 15. The meeting next Monday evening will be held in the Telstar Lecture Hall at 7:30.

Following is the report as submitted by the Special Committee:

I. Introduction
A. This committee was formed by the Board of Directors on Oct.
14, to look into, investigate, and report back to the Board on discipline, the philosophy, and program at Telstar by the first regular meeting in December. We have found ourselves in agreement with the district philosophy of education and in general with the present program at Telstar. We find in some areas that our interpretation of the philosophy of discipline differs from that now being used and the following report recommends certain changes based on our interpretation. We also include some changes and additions to the program which we hope will prevent situations that lead to discipline problems.

II. Discipline and Disciplinary Action
A. We feel that for a child to develop the capacity to discipline
him or herself, a child must have the freedom to make choices. When and if he does make the wrong choices (i. e. breaks a rule, fails to do his assigned tasks, fails to maintain a passing grade average in each course), he then must have some controls put on his actions for a period of time. We are looking for the best in each child and therefore when he enters school we expect him to make the right choice, therefore privileges are granted equally. We must not condemn the child for his mistakes but help him to profit from them.

B. Paragraph two of M. S. A. D.
#44 Blue Book (Basil Kennedy's

There will be choir practice Friday, Jan. 23, at 6:30 p. m.

Sunday evening a study of the cults; that you might have a ready answer for them with humility.

The movie "A Thief in the Night" was shown here at our church last Sunday night. All the area towns were well represented by a near capacity crowd, except for the home town which appeared to be afraid of going out in the cold or meeting the Lord. This doesn't include several of the older people who would have liked to come, but didn't have a ride to get there.

NO EXCUSE

That Americans should one day be 100 percent literate was recognized as a goal for educators early in the history of the nation.

It is shocking to read statistics prepared by the government today which indicate that a substantial number of Americans are still functionally illiterate, that is, unable or barely able to read or write.

Somewhere or other, the educational system has gotten off the track. It is trying to get back on through such approaches as the Right to Read program which is a cross-subject approach emphasizing to students that reading isn't involved entirely with literature but is the single most important skill an individual must master.

That this should be necessary is at first discouraging because the value of reading seems so obvious as not to require devices which appear to belabor the obvious.

Given some degree of reflection, though, it makes sense to make plain to students the great extent of interdependence between the subjects they are expected to familiarize themselves with in school.

Long before the advent of television and its demonstrable effect toward suggesting that one can be informed without being able to read, it was far from uncommon to hear persons, both youthful and adult, say, "I don't like to read," or, "I never get around to reading anything anymore."

Inherent in these comments was the belief, however mistaken, that reading was of limited use, a frivolity to be indulged in times of idleness, a recreational endeavor or not necessarily a working tool.

Rather than throw up our hands in horror that educational systems must now prove anew the worth and necessity of reading, it seems more logical that we should support any efforts toward improvement elemental though they may seem to many.

An example of the cross-disciplinary approach was reported in last week's paper in a story of a seventh grade class which utilized the preparation of a meal as the vehicle for placing emphasis on reading's role in the most common of tasks. The pupils blended study of another country, Italy, with exercises in menu preparation which increased vocabulary, in letter writing to an equipment supplier, in interpretation of recipes, in shopping for ingredients.

While this sort of education may never reveal the delights to be gained in understanding the subtleties of a Shakespearean play or the earthy humor of a Mark Twain, it may well lay the cornerstone for such subsequent understanding.

That it should be necessary at an advanced level as junior high is regrettable, but that educators are moving to eliminate weaknesses at whatever level they are apparent is to their credit. It would be easy to dull criticism by pretending that a problem does not exist or by blaming circumstances outside the control of educators for flaws such as lack of skill in reading.

The next step, and one which should be taken as quickly as possible, is to reinforce in the earliest grades both the methodology of teaching and the application of that methodology.

There is no excuse for illiteracy.

Letters to the Editor

Sunday, Jan. 16, 1976

To the Editor:

I want to express my thanks to the person who complained in your paper regarding the column of Mrs. Colista Morgan of Greenwood City.

We have had our place in Albany for 10 years and I have been reading your paper all that time and did not read this column, knowing no one there or even where it is.

However, when the replies came pouring in I decided to find out what it was all about. I am delighted with it. It expresses the way I feel about the country much better than I ever could.

Long live Colista Morgan and her column and thanks again to unknown person. (I forgot your name).

Sincerely,

Louise Franklin

Read Job 11:13-20

"You will have confidence, because there is hope." (Job 11:18, RSV)

We all have known at least one outstanding character who constantly surprises, exasperates, and confounds us, yet who captures our hearts. Such is a lady who was one of my nursing instructors.

We students did a great deal of learning and growing throughout training, but for me the greatest lesson came after graduation. Our capable and dignified teacher-nurse became a patient, entering the hospital for a series of tests. The tests revealed cancer.

The teacher knows well the costs, the pain it can mean; but she knows about hope too. Already past retirement age and involved in lengthy uncomfortable treatments, she is at work with a new group of students. She says she has decided that with the help of God and the support of her friends she is not going to let this illness get the best of her. She has such a complete appreciation of life that looking forward triumphantly is the only way she knows how to live it.

Prayer: Thank You, Father, for abundant life. With You and Jesus and Your Holy Spirit, life is rich and full and a wonderful experience! Help us to see this daily by remembering our hope in You, Amen.

MS. WARDWELL HONORED BY AMERICAN DIETETIC ASSN.

Jane A. Wardwell of Rumford, a therapeutic dietitian at the Rumford Community Hospital, has been selected as a Recognized Young Dietitian for 1975 by the American Dietetic Association.

According to Mrs. Nancy Martin, director of Nutrition Services of the Department of Mental Health and Corrections and public relations chairman of the Maine Dietetic Association, Ms. Wardwell was cited by representatives of 36 affiliated dietetic associations for distinguishing herself as a leader in the dietetics profession on the job and in the community.

Ms. Wardwell, employed at the Rumford Hospital since 1971, received her masters degree in education from Tufts University, Medford, Mass., following internship at the Frances Stern Nutrition Clinic, Boston.

For the past two years she has been chairman of Nutrition Week Activities for the Rumford area. She has also served as vice president, program chairman and member of the executive board of the southwestern Maine Dietetic Association, chairman of several MDA committees and as nutrition consultant for the Rumford area Head Start program.

SENIOR CITIZENS MET AT SUDBURY INN JAN. 14
The Senior Citizens met at the Sudbury Inn for their regular monthly meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 14, 1976. It was opened with Pres. Muriel Faudi presiding at 11 o'clock. The Lord's Prayer was said in unison and all new officers answered the roll call.

President Faudi thanked last years officers for their help and cooperation in the past and a gift was presented to Sarah Stevens for her past two years as president.

An invitation was extended to the group to attend the Americanism program on Feb. 28, by Commander Carolyn Brooks at Telstar. Two speakers are expected to be present. The birthday cake will also be furnished for us and Commander Brooks will be on hand to welcome us. Telstar band will entertain the group.

A discussion relative to "pot luck" dinners in the future "if it becomes a must", the cost of food and dinners keep going up. We have appreciated the organization who have catered for us for the past 14 years, but we realize too that they must make a profit to survive. If and when it comes to pass, committees will be set up to care for the food and places to meet will be found.

It was voted to have a "sum of money" for Project Independence (Mini Bus) entered in the Town Warrant. We all signed as Bethel is the only town so far who has not helped in this area.

Floribel Haines reported the activities in which senior citizens had taken part in 1975. $25 was donated to the rescue ambulance service. A trip by bus and boat to Winnepesaukee Lake, in New Hampshire and one to Songo River in Naples, also a trip to Perley Howard's camp at Mooslookme-gantic. We also took in the county picnic at Fryeburg Fairgrounds.

1st prize for Colonial costumes went to Sarah Stevens; 2nd Floribel Haines. 1st prize for men was received by Stanley Lord. It was our way of observing the 200 year founding of the U. S. A.

Thank you notes from Pearl Ashby Tibbitts, Urban Bartlett, Mary Hall and Edith Thurston for their Christmas sunshine baskets were read. It was also reported that four senior citizens are regular volunteers at the Rumford Hospital coffee shop.

Corra Bennett, sunshine chairman, reported ten Christmas baskets for shut-ins had been delivered. Thanks go to Roy Cummings for his help and those who made the goodies for the baskets as well.

Those who received get well cards were Eva Johnston, Phillip Faudi and Joe Perry. A birthday card was sent to Clair Smith.

Madge Vogt furnished the birthday cake for January. 47 members and guests were seated at the table. Stan Lord gave the blessing. A delicious dinner was served by the staff of the Inn. Those observing January birthdays were Rena Abbott, Muriel Faudi, Linwood Lowell, Madge Vogt, Dorothy Horne, Alanson Cummings, Gladys Cross, Leona Curtis, Ann Mason, Edith Coolidge and Florence Thurston. Not all were able to attend. We enjoyed two guests, Joan Moorhead and Joyce Bennett of South Paris. They spoke on the new Social Security Home being built on Paradise Avenue and answer period followed.

A County Senior meeting was held at South Paris Fire Station Jan. 8. Those from Bethel attending were Joan Coolidge (County Vice President), Elizabeth and Stan Lord, Maud Hunt and Muriel Faudi.

January 8 a Senior Citizens meeting was held at the Town Hall at Bryant Pond by the Woodstock Senior Citizens. Those attending from Bethel were Sarah and Ronald Stevens, Bea and Cecil Conrad, Helen Varner, Julia Brown, Leona Flint and Adeline Dexter.

I would like to thank everyone who sent flowers and cards, and those who visited me during my recent stay in the hospital.

DANA PLACE INN TO BE INCLUDED IN 76 EDITION OF "COUNTRY INNS/BACK ROADS"

The Dana Place Inn, Pinkham Notch Road, Jackson, N. H., has been selected to be included in the 1976 edition of the prestigious "Country Inns and Back Roads" published by the Berkshire Traveler Press. The author of this book, Norman Simpson, is recognized as the foremost authority on today's country inns. Approximately 150 inns throughout the United States, Canada and England will be included in this year's edition. Thousands of people use this book each year to plan everything from a one day excursion to an extended vacation. More than merely a recital of facilities and services, "Country Inns and Back Roads" puts the reader at each inn in advance, with a generous glimpse of the unusual facilities which make it unique and noteworthy.

Betty and Mal Jennings, owners of the Dana Place Inn, were delighted to be advised that their inn, purchased by them just a year ago next month, will be included in this compilation of some of the country's finest lodging and eating establishments. Author Simpson mentions the unique location of Dana Place in Pinkham Notch next to the Ellis River, its appeal to cross-country skiers and all who love the mountains, the hospitality projected by the innkeepers and the outstanding cuisine of Chef Mary Plante as some of the factors that make the Dana Place Inn a logical choice to be included in the 1976 edition of "Country Inns and Back Roads."

BICENTENNIAL BYPATHS

On January 23, 1776, at Stamford Connecticut, General Lee reassured the New York Committee of Safety that he had no intention of attacking the British and that the local inhabitants need suffer no concern on that score. His only objective was to prevent a British occupation of the city. A portion of his force would remain on the border. However, he admitted that he would return fire with fire if necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Turner have gone to Florida for the winter. Their daughter, who is a senior at Fryburg Academy will fly down for her vacation in February. Their son, Michael and wife Lorraine, are living in their house while they are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitten, our teachers from Rangeley, were unable to teach Tuesday and Wednesday. They were sick with colds. Gwen Littlehale and Elise Littlehale substituted for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stanley Jr. and daughter, Donna, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Katherine Arsenault and daughter Karen.

Ellis Olson is gaining slowly and is now able to walk out to the table for his meals.

Gould This Week

The Gould Academy Student Council is finally rolling. In the past week a snack bar has been added to the student union to accommodate the students needs at times when it would be more convenient than walking into town. The snack bar serves such delicacies as pizzas, egg rolls, sandwiches, sodas and candy.

The student council has proposed a plan to raise money for refurbishing the student union. Actually, the union was never furnished in the first place. The plan is to have each class raise a certain amount of money to pay for the furnishings. The furnishings will consist of couches, chairs, tables and ashtrays and paintings. If the plan works, the student union will become a more pleasant place to spend some time.

North Paris

— Eveline Barrett, Corres. —

Fire levelled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cusson (the former Pierce house) at 3:30 a. m., Jan. 14. They were awakened by the frenzied barking of their dog who was about as big as a pint of cider. Mrs. Cusson used an ashtray to break a window and they jumped out in their pajamas. She ran to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barrett barefooted and no jacket in the rain or snow. The fire department was called and got stuck on Trap Corner Hill. When the mister could get the car started, he and Brian went to the Barretts in pajamas. The house and shed were a total loss with no insurance. Jack Roberts took Bob and Lois to Norway hospital for treatment. Two toes on Lois's right foot were just hanging and a large piece on her left heel was sliced but still hanging. Has to stay off them for two weeks or she may need skin grafts. Bob has a bad cut on his left wrist and a long gash on stomach and both were stitched up. They found the white cat Thursday afternoon but the dog wasn't found. The money in Brian's bank was found in the ashes but no paper money. Three hundred jars of jelly, vegetables, mince meat, etc., were lost. A lot of hard work went up in smoke.

The January thaw was very short, only one day. The schools were closed Jan. 12 and 14 due to snowstorms. The "kids" will have to go to school until July 4 to make up for lost time. The thirty degrees below zero Jan. 19 didn't stop the bus but it stopped a lot of cars. Frank Perham and Peter Collette were very busy and traffic was very slow.

Eveline Barrett was unable to attend the wedding of her nephew, Timothy Bean, to Linda Lee Howell Jan. 16, due to storm. Can't even get married without a snowstorm.

A public supper to benefit the Cussions will be held at the Good Will Hall of Universalist Church, Jan. 24, with two sittings, 5:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., sponsored by the West Paris Fire Dept. Auxiliary. Let's all go. If anyone has donations for the Cussions, they may be left at Joe Barrett's. They hope to be in an apartment by Jan. 21.

We have had many callers this week.

Lois Cusson and Brian visited the Barretts Tuesday morning while waiting for doctor's appointment. She will go to Norway hospital this week for skin grafting on her left heel and they found an apartment in South Paris.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Right now, as I write, the last sun is gilding the top of the western hills. I have just come from a walk on the road stopping in places to see where a brook had woven frills and laces over the ledges, listening to the call of the raven, revelling in the sun on my face.

The wind working through the night with several inches of new snow, had covered the forests and ponds with sculptures. A long white wave of snow; its top curled over, was caught at the pond shore. A range of foot high mountains streaked with shadows I saw too, near the shore line. A stump was girdled by a straight, even white wall. Several feet above was an arched doorway; probably made by a pileated woodpecker. The snow had been blown away, hurried on between drifts so that some places showed weeds, now that their blankets were removed.

The winter clouds had grown and bloomed and shed their starry crystals on every tree and rock. Big puffy flakes that nudged each other with a swishing sound like a whisper in the bushes nestled there to cover silences, little evergreens and paths.

On my right was Big Pond reposing dreamily, on my left the forest hills. Impressive contrasts met me everywhere; the rocks and sky, light and shade, sunshine and clouds; the latter forming and dissolving as if by magic.

Trees in winter rise everywhere in sharper and more individual presence. The evergreens alter with the weight of snow to drooping curves.

On my return I faced the mountains, mysterious, as all mountains are. It was the gentlest time of day with enough light left of the afternoon while a growing gold and pink in the west spoke of sunset. The air was soft and clean; balmy after so many really cold days this week.

When I was again at home, I was tired from the long walk but a satisfying fatigue from an enchanting environment in a quiet valley with living pictures wrought in pine and spruces where the hills were steep against the sky.

David Holt returned to UMO on the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mundt, Bethel, had dinner with us on Tuesday and visited for the afternoon.

Mrs. Ernest Morris was in Lewiston on Monday for tests at Saint Mary's Hospital.

Helen Heath, Norway, visited her mother, Edla Tamlander, on Saturday.

Ardell and Betty Hayes, Auburn, Duane and Avis Hayes, and children, West Paris, were at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday.

Ann Holt, Bethel, and friend, Nancy Hutton, Waterville, were at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's Saturday evening. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt and Danny of Windsor spent the day.

The 26 snowmobiles descending the farm fields at Holt's on Sunday afternoon looked like a great snake as they made their way down the old cart road to the main highway.

As I close this the thermometer registers 26 below zero.
